Are you a housing stakeholder with experience to share about providing or making decisions about accessible and/or affordable housing for people with disabilities?

Consider participating in a study to share your experiences

What is this study about:

We would like to understand youth's experiences, challenges and recommendations regarding obtaining accessible and/or affordable housing.

Who can participate?

We are looking for:

- Housing stakeholder (e.g., architect, planner, designer, builder, contractor, real estate professional, policy decision-maker, clinicians doing home assessments) with at least 1 year of experience related to providing or making decisions about accessible and/or affordable housing for children, youth and young adults with disabilities and their families
- Able to communicate in English or with the help of an interpreter
- Work/practice within Ontario

What's involved?

- A 1-hour interview (via zoom or in-person)

Potential Benefits?

- There are no direct benefits, but it may help us to learn about how we can address challenges with accessible and affordable housing for young people with disabilities.

Participants will receive a small token of appreciation to thank them for their time.
